Business Development & Advocacy

One-on-One Assistance

The BID regularly provides direct assistance to individual merchants with business-related concerns.

Ombudsman

The BID can act as a liaison between merchants and city agencies to address problems in the area.

Merchant Outreach & Communications

The BID provides news and alerts to local businesses through its quarterly newsletter and direct outreach.

Demographic & Market Data

Retail-relevant data is collected and available on the BID's website for current and prospective retailers.

Networking

The annual meeting allows district merchants and property owners to network and meet community members, including elected officials and city agency representatives.

Advocacy for Streetscape Improvements

The BID has been extremely successful in advocating for and securing capital improvement funding, including the installation of new street light poles and tree pit guards.

Marketing & Promotion

Special Events

The BID provides ongoing visitor attraction initiatives, including the annual Summer Space in September. Summer Space allows businesses to have a presence outdoors where crowds have gathered to enjoy the festivities, creating an opportunity to attract new shoppers. Post event merchant surveys revealed that 65% of participating businesses experienced increased foot traffic and 44% reported an increase in sales.

Social Media & Communications

The BID regularly highlights and advertises local business events and promotions on its Facebook page and Twitter feed. As a result, the number of followers on Twitter and Facebook has increased dramatically. This is an opportunity for businesses offering special promotions to reach a broader audience beyond their own marketing outreach.

Marketing Materials & Advertising

As part of its marketing efforts, the BID advertises online and in print. A map and guide highlighting Montague Street as a shopping and dining destination in downtown Brooklyn was co-produced with three other local BIDs.
